In a major new partnership with Kent International Piano Courses (KIPC), the London Mozart Players (LMP), the UK's longest established chamber orchestra, returns to Tonbridge for the Mozart Memorial Prize winner's concert under the baton of distinguished pianist and conductor Howard Shelley.

In the 1960s the London Mozart Players' Mozart Memorial Prize launched the careers of many talented musicians including Imogen Cooper, Stephen Kovacevich and Benjamin Frith. The prize was rested in 1982, but in this 70th anniversary year for the LMP it has been revitalised with an invigorated prize structure in conjunction with KIPC, and has been supported by the Ambrose and Anne Appelbe Trust. The winner (a young pianist aged between 16 and 28) will enjoy a year's relationship with the LMP that includes mentoring with LMP Conductor Laureate Howard Shelley and the opportunity to perform a Mozart piano concerto alongside the LMP.

Outstanding young pianist Jinah Shim, who won the KIPC 2019 Mozart Memorial Prize, will take centre stage for her prize-winner's concert alongside LMP on Friday 1 November. In an all-Mozart programme, she will perform his ravishing Piano Concerto No. 21 (better known as the Elvira Madigan theme), while the LMP will play Mozart's ever-popular 'Eine kleine Nachtmusik' and his 'Jupiter' symphony, regarded as one of the greatest symphonies in classical music.

This celebratory concert, which marks the LMP's 70th anniversary, is a great opportunity to hear one of the UK's favourite chamber ensembles as well as a brilliant new talent.
